Quote of the Month

“This is a time when sacrifices are essential in leading the country. From tomorrow on, I will head to the battlefield to lead the defense forces. All of you who aspire to be among the children of Ethiopia celebrated by history, do not delay, let us meet at the battlefield. Those remaining behind will work to cover the gaps created by our departure to the frontline. As adults wisely guard their environment, elderly mothers and fathers pray, everyone will work together to ensure Ethiopia's victory. This is no longer the time to sit back and criticize. Let's do what needs to be done ourselves.

There is no one better to stand for Ethiopia than ourselves. The name Ethiopia is the epithet of the conquerors and the symbol of freedom. I have no doubt that my generation will pay the needful price for its victorious name and symbol of freedom and will print Ethiopia and Ethiopianess in gold."

– Prime Minister Abiy Ahmed
